In that case, Controlmad will give you access to lectures and exercises on-line and check the digital fabrication process with a feedback of the results, including assembling. Besides, the objects may be manufactured with that files on your nearest FabLab (not part of the course fee).

Can I enrol in PART I first, and enroll in PART II later on?

Yes, if there are spots available. You would need to pay the difference of the PART I fee and the full registration fee currently shown at the web page.

Can I participate in PART II ON-site for next edition?

We do recommend to make the full course together in order to finish your training. (PART II, as written above, is possible to do it On-line too). Usually, on-site training is full and limited spots are available.

For special situations, Force Majeure and/or justifiable causes, you may also submit this request, up to 30 days before the start date, if another course and spots are available in next edition (students enroled for that edition will have priority) and/or your spot is covered by any student of our waiting list. If not, Controlmad will apply the return and charges policies described in the next page.

Looking for accomodation?

Upon registration, we will provide information regarding accomodation, best areas to stay... You can join into a private group of former students that might share information about it. Also, we have an agreement with a local company specialized in helping you to find a place to stay.
